

It's nearly time for our annual visit to Killerton and our regular cricket match with Broadclyst CC.

Taff has been communicating regularly with Rob Meakins at Killerton. In my recent note, I mentioned that Rob had unearthed the plaques that we had made to go alongside the trees we planted

The trees are healthy and growing well.

The frames that were erected around the trees to protect them during their early years have been removed and Rob has arranged to have our plaques placed in front of the trees.

Rob has also arranged for us to be able to gain entrance to the site from 10:00. and the House from 10:30 on Sunday 30th June.

I suggest that those who wish to visit meet in the NT car park at 10:00am

We can then go as a group down to the trees to spend a few quiet moments remembering our late friends and colleagues. Possibly a pertinent time bearing in mind the recent loss of Vijay Daswani and Nigel Webb earlier this year. It is then proposed that we make our way up to the House for 10:30 for our normal visit for those who are interested.

This is the final reminder that annual cricket match will be held on Sunday 30th June
at the Killerton Cricket ground.
First ball - 2:00pm

For UK residents, there is an opportunity to watch Killerton on the TV.

The BBC has recorded a number of programmes for a series: "Hidden Treasures of the National Trust"

Killerton is included in Episode 4 that went out on Friday 31st May but can be watched on iPlayer.

Killerton's piece in the programme will be focusing on the 'Diana' dress and the restoration of the rose window in the Chapel.

I look forward to seeing all who are able to attend either at the House in the morning or the cricket ground in the afternoon.
